Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Teachers Prepared by Subject Area

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by subject area for academic year 2018-19.

For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Subject area" refers to the subject area(s) an individual has been prepared to teach. An individual can be counted in more than one subject area. If no individuals were prepared in a particular subject area, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

What are CIP Codes?

No teachers prepared in academic year 2018-19

If your program has no teachers prepared, check the box above and leave the table below blank (or clear responses already entered).

What are CIP codes? The Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) provides a taxonomic scheme that supports the accurate tracking and reporting of fields of study and program completions activity. CIP was originally developed by the U.S. Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in 1980, with revisions occurring in 1985, 1990, and 2000 (<https://nces.ed.gov/ipeds/cipcode/Default.aspx?y=55>).

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2018-19. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

Program Assurances

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

>> Program Assurances

Respond to the following assurances. Note: Teacher preparation programs should be prepared to provide documentation and evidence, when requested, to support the following assurances. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(A\)\(iii\); §206\(b\))

Program Assurances

1. Program preparation responds to the identified needs of the local educational agencies or States where the program completers are likely to teach, based on past hiring and recruitment trends.

- Yes
 No

2. Preparation is closely linked with the needs of schools and the instructional decisions new teachers face in the classroom.

- Yes
 No

3. Prospective special education teachers are prepared in core academic subjects and to instruct in core academic subjects.

- Yes
 No
 Program does not prepare special education teachers

4. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students with disabilities.

- Yes
 No

5. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to limited English proficient students.

- Yes
 No

6. Prospective general education teachers are prepared to provide instruction to students from low-income families.

- Yes
 No

7. Prospective teachers are prepared to effectively teach in urban and rural schools, as applicable.

- Yes
 No

8. Describe your institution's most successful strategies in meeting the assurances listed above:

Professional education courses, specifically Educational Psychology, School and Society, Education of the Exceptional Child, and Clinical Experience classes, address these issues. In addition, foreign language competency (generally two semesters) is required. Deaf education majors not only have a minimum 20-hour area of concentration, but also 12 semester hours of math, 12 semester hours of science, 12 semester hours of language arts, and 12 semester hours of social studies. Elementary and Early Childhood majors complete at least 12 semester hours of math, 12 semester hours of science, 12 semester hours of language arts and 12 semester hours of social studies. Methods classes also address areas for differentiating instruction based on student needs as they apply in specific contexts. Membership on the Teacher Education Committee includes public school personnel, teacher candidates, and a representative from each program area. Clinical experiences are designed to provide diversity of school type as well as student diversity (academic, ethnic, socioeconomic, age,...).

Annual Goals: Mathematics

Each institution of higher education (IHE) that conducts a traditional teacher preparation program (including programs that offer any ongoing professional development programs) or alternative route teacher preparation program, and that enrolls students receiving Federal assistance under this Act, shall set annual quantifiable goals for increasing the number of prospective teachers trained in teacher shortage areas designated by the Secretary or by the state educational agency, including mathematics, science, special education, and instruction of limited English proficient students.

\(§205\(a\)\(1\) \(A\)\(i\), §205\(a\)\(1\)\(A\)\(ii\), §206\(a\)\)

Please note that the goals you set last year are not pre-loaded into your report because the Department's changes to wording of the questions in this section make them incompatible for pre-loading from last year's data. Next year, your goals will be pre-loaded into your report based on the goals you enter this year.

In order to complete this section, you may find it helpful to review your goals in your 2019 report. You may download and review your 2019 report by following the following steps: 1) click the Home tab, 2) click "Academic Year 2018-19 Data" in the banner near the top of the page to expand the dropdown, and select "Academic Year 2017-18 Data," 3) Click Download Report.

Report Progress on Last Year's Goal (2018-19)

1. Did your program prepare teachers in mathematics in 2018-19?

If no, leave remaining questions for 2018-19 blank (or clear responses already entered).

- Yes
 No

2. Describe your goal.

In 2018-2019 academic year, our goal was to assist our one prospective teacher in mathematics in the completion of his student teaching in Fall 2018. We also sought to hire a new faculty member in mathematics in hopes that they will be able to assist our mathematics education prospective teachers.

3. Did your program meet the goal?

- Yes
 No

4. Description of strategies used to achieve goal, if applicable:

Our one prospective teacher in mathematics was supervised through the completion of his student teaching in Fall 2018. We hired a new faculty member in mathematics in 2019. This faculty member served on our Teacher Education Committee as our mathematics education representative and assisted mathematics education prospective teachers.

5. Description of steps to improve performance in meeting goal or lessons learned in meeting goal, if applicable:

We will need to continue to seek new faculty members who will be able to assist with mathematics education. Our new mathematics faculty hire in 2019 has recently announced his resignation of his position.

6. Provide any additional comments, exceptions and explanations below:

Our prospective mathematics teacher did successfully complete student teaching in the fall of 2018.

Review Current Year's Goal (2019-20)

7. Is your program preparing teachers in mathematics in 2019-20? If no, leave the next question blank.

- Yes
 No

8. Describe your goal.

Our goal is to continue to support our prospective mathematics teachers through the successful completion of their student teaching and their program requirements. We also hope to hire a new mathematics faculty member during the summer of 2020 since our current math education faculty member has just announced his resignation; however, the COVID-19 situation has made that hiring process increasingly challenging.

Set Next Year's Goal (2020-21)

9. Will your program prepare teachers in mathematics in 2020-21? If no, leave the next question blank.

- Yes
 No

10. Describe your goal.

Our goal for the 2020-2021 academic year will be to hire (or retain if a new hire occurs this summer 2020) a new mathematics faculty member who will be able to assist our mathematics prospective teachers. Our goal will be to continue to support our current prospective mathematics teachers.

Assessment Pass Rates

The pass rates table is populated from files provided by the testing company or state. The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period. \(§205\(a\)\(1\)\(B\)\)

Please note that this page does not have an edit feature as the pass rates have already been through several rounds of verification. If you identify an error, please contact Westat's Title II Support Center and your testing company representative.

Use of Technology

1. Provide the following information about the use of technology in your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request. (§205\(a\)\(1\)\(F\))

Does your program prepare teachers to:

- a. integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction

Yes
 No

- b. use technology effectively to collect data to improve teaching and learning

Yes
 No

- c. use technology effectively to manage data to improve teaching and learning

Yes
 No

- d. use technology effectively to analyze data to improve teaching and learning

Yes
 No

2. Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

Our program focuses on the International Society for Technology in Education National Educational Technology Standards (ISTE NETS) for Students. The NETS essentially take an interdisciplinary approach to providing students with a road map for being successful and productive in a global environment. However, ISTE has also provided the Standards for Educators and the Standards for Education Leaders. By exposing our prospective teachers to these three sets of NETS standards, they begin to see how integral the immersion of technology becomes across the learning community. These standards become a focal-point as we introduce a variety of instructional technology platforms. We demonstrate the relevance of these tools in the educational environment and always connect these tools back to the ISTE Standards and current educational research. From the first technology class, students are introduced to data collection and how it can be used effectively with students. As the course moves through the semester, the students develop their own unique ways to collect data from the class. Students are encouraged to try a variety of formative assessment tools each week during the semester as they explore data collections. In fact, after the second week, the students are responsible for teaching the class, and one of the first items of business each lesson is to gain an understanding of a student's prior knowledge. Students create their own assessment tools to do this, then reflect on this data after they have taught the lesson. Students then take the data that was collected at the beginning of a lesson and combine it with a post lesson assessment to see what changes, if any, are represented in the data. When students next teach a lesson, they will have had time to reflect on their teaching, review the data, and make any necessary changes to their lesson plan. As a result of the students participating in both the role of the teacher and the role of the student, they are constantly using and analyzing data. Running through this course, all students are participating in two online spaces: OneNote and Canvas. Using both of these platforms gives students the opportunity to use instructional technology to manage data for teaching and learning. Students are required to blog about their experiences each week and the links are shared in Canvas. Students design their lessons and deploy their lessons on these platforms, giving them an opportunity to see how to effectively use a learning management system to manage all of the data that is required to teach a lesson. The overarching goal of this program is to prepare our prospective teachers with the skills necessary to engage a generation of learners who have lived a life immersed in technology, but do not necessarily have the skills to become productive, literate, and collaborative in a global economy that will evolve in ways that can only be answered with speculation. We also want our teachers to realize that technology is only a tool that enhances the many intricacies of teaching and learning. Used wisely and effectively, technology becomes an enabler, but it does not replace the essence of what teaching and learning is all about. Therefore, we prepare our students with a framework of proven instructional methodologies as well as emerging technical competencies to position themselves as effective teachers for the 21st century. Our program prepares prospective teachers to use the principles of Universal Design for Learning (UDL) beginning in an early professional education course titled Education of the Exceptional Child, which is a course required of all certification areas. They are introduced to the principles of UDL, conduct research on the effective practice of UDL principles on our campus, and then present their findings to their classmates and faculty. The UDL principles are reinforced throughout other education courses and clinical experiences through lesson planning and implementation of principles in teaching experiences.

Teacher Training

THIS PAGE INCLUDES:

>> Teacher Training

Provide the following information about your teacher preparation program.

(§205(a)(1)(G))

Teacher Training

1. Provide a description of the activities that prepare general education teachers to:

a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

All of our programs require prospective teachers to prepare lesson plans that include adjustments, adaptations, modifications, and accommodations for diverse learners. All formal clinical experiences require the candidate to research and gather contextual information related to diversity and special needs within his/her clinical experience placements. All programs require prospective teachers to successfully complete a professional education course titled, Education of the Exceptional Child, in which various exceptionalities are carefully considered with emphasis on methods and techniques of identification, instruction, and finding available resource assistance. Specifically included in the course, but not limited to, are learning disabilities, autism spectrum disorder, emotional/behavioral disorder, deaf, blind, other health impaired, severe-profound/multi-handicapped, gifted/talented, and mental illness. Attention to IEPs and resulting lesson plan and teaching modifications and accommodations are introduced in Education of the Exceptional Child and reinforced in various methods courses. Courses such as Human Development and Learning and Educational Psychology also include attention to exceptionalities, multiple intelligences, and diverse learning styles/modalities.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

In the professional education course, Education of the Exceptional Child, prospective teachers explore components of an Individualized Education Plan and participate in class activities that help prepare them for being a member of an individualized education program team. Prospective teachers may have clinical experience participate in individualized education program teams during their Professional Trimester/Student Teaching.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.

Preparing all prospective teachers to effectively teach students who are limited English proficient is an integral part of our Diversity Action Plan. This is evidenced by the following excerpt from our diversity proficiencies: Teacher Candidates are expected within the Knowledge Category to: Be aware of the needs of and effective strategies for working with an English Language Learner (ELL), such as: a) Building blocks of language, b) Stages of second language acquisition, c) Context matters; students are competent in home language, d) Different dialects of English, e) How to use multiple assessments to determine what students know, f) Important connections between language & culture. Teacher Candidates are expected within the Skills category to: a) Demonstrate a variety of strategies/techniques proven to be effective with ELL, b) Demonstrate a high novice proficiency in a foreign language. These elements are addressed in many of the professional education courses and throughout the methods courses. One course example is School and Society where course curriculum and discussion emphasizes considerations for working with students who are ELL or LEP, and prospective teachers are required to reflect on and write about their own strengths and areas of growth within our diversity proficiencies.

2. Does your program prepare special education teachers?

Yes

No

If yes, provide a description of the activities that prepare special education teachers to:

a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

We prepare prospective teachers in the special education area of Deaf Education certification. All of the Deaf Education classes focus on deaf and hard of hearing (DHH) students and what they need to be successful in school. In Curriculum Development and Instruction 2, students learn how to work with DHH students with additional disabilities.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

Five weeks of the semester in the required Deaf Education course, Curriculum Development and Instruction 2, is devoted to learning the IEP process. Along with the readings, students learn how to use EdPlan and create an IEP for their case study student from the Jane Brooks campus of the Oklahoma School for the Deaf. To create the IEP case study, each USAO student is assigned one student from Jane Brooks and works with them one-on-one for 30 minutes for at least 10 weeks. Through this one-on-one time and discussing with the actual teacher from Jane Brooks, USAO Deaf Education teacher candidates are able to create IEP goals in EdPlan.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.

USAO Deaf Education prospective teachers take three courses, Language Development 1, 2 and 3 during their time here. Language Development 1 focuses on normal language development from birth to age 6 and then apply this knowledge to DHH students. During Language Development 2, students focus on elementary age students and how best to support their language development. Language Development 3 teaches how to best support middle and high school students who need language support. In each class, students learn assessments, strategies, and curriculum to teach students with limited English proficiency. English proficiency is also supported with USAO students working with DHH students from the Jane Brooks campus of the Oklahoma School for the Deaf during all three courses.

Contextual Information

Please use this space to provide any additional information that describes your teacher preparation program(s). You may also attach information to this report card (see below). The U.S. Department of Education is especially interested in any evaluation plans or interim or final reports that may be available.

USAO's Teacher Education program utilizes the co-teaching model of student teaching. USAO has developed a base of over 600 mentor teachers trained in the co-teaching approach. We have received positive feedback from teacher candidates, mentor teachers, and administrators in response to the co-teaching model and in response to our Teacher Education program and the preparation of our teacher candidates overall. USAO's teacher certification programs in Music, Deaf Education, Math, Science, Social Studies, English, Elementary, and Early Childhood have all been nationally recognized. Our Art certification program is state approved. Our Physical Education certification program is currently state approved. USAO's Teacher Education program as an entire Educator Preparation Provider (EPP) is nationally accredited through the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP).
